With his dual Canadian and American Juris Doctor degrees, graduate degree in economics, and passion for technology, Abhishek Chaudhry brings a unique perspective to his practice.

Abby's graduate studies in economics give him a leg up when acting on competition disputes involving technology platforms or disputes involving damages caused by the misuse of technology, such as AI. Through his diverse experiences and academic background, Abby makes technology his focus, allowing him to help you.

While in law school, Abby was a student scholar fellow with the Law Commission of Ontario and helped to spearhead the "Consumer Protection in the Digital Marketplace" Project. He was also the President of Windsor Law's Legal Innovation Hub where he met with founders of various start-up tech companies and discovered his passion for technology.

Prior to law school, he received a master's degree in economics from York University,
